

GREENJAY
— PROTECTIVE GROUP —

Protection is Not a Service. It is a Standard.

At Greenjay, we operate from a single principle: true security is not an assembly of services, but a fully engineered standard integrated into the lives of our clients.

It is the product of disciplined oversight, intelligence-driven operations, and the quiet integration of advanced technology. Our purpose is to reduce exposure and eliminate uncertainty, enabling our clients to live and operate with confidence—without disruption.

The Architects of Integrated Protection

Robinson Paniagua | Founder & Managing Director

The strategist of operational readiness and engineered security. A discipline forged in U.S. Army Special Forces and refined by a Master's degree in Engineering.

Jennifer Paniagua | Co-Founder & Director of Protective Operations

The authority on investigative diligence and procedural excellence. A standard of care developed over a decade in law enforcement, investigative oversight, and dignitary protection.

Robinson Paniagua: A Convergence of Elite Operations and Advanced Engineering

Robinson's career reflects a rare convergence of two distinct worlds: the uncompromising operational environments of U.S. Army Special Forces and the complex, systems-based world of advanced engineering.

This dual expertise—spanning human intelligence in non-permissive zones to the architecture of secure communications—forms the foundation of Greenjay's ability to engineer secure operating conditions across physical, digital, and human domains.
